Pleasantly bitterish, velvety, at once elegant and full.

Food matches

Red meats, grilled or on the spit, game, grande cuisine white and red meats with white or brown sauces.

Class and spontaneous vivacity are the distinguishing characteristics of a Nebbiolo d'Alba. An ancient wine from the Roero District (sandy hills situated above the left banks of the Tanaro River) it was already a regular fixture at the Royal Savoia Cellars in the early 17th Century.
